Are you one of the guys who sit right now in a cafe with your laptop, at home or on the train to a customer? The life of a freelancer is exciting and sometimes exhausting, isn't it. You need to build up your own customer base to get your steady income. You go to networking events, conferences or ask friends to recommend you to their networks and so on. It is a challenge to keep the path of a freelancer, especially when you have a family to feed. That's why people prefer the office space to work. It is less risky, it is less stress. As a software developer, do you really think so?

Welcome to the JoomLancers V3.0!

Posted by Admin in joomla

Today we are happy to announce that the upgrade of JoomLancers.com to V3.0 has been almost completed. Although many new features are being developed behind the screen, at the first stage of V3, we will try to keep all basic features for the convenience of database converting.

As on the demo page, you can easily recognize some highlights of the new version:

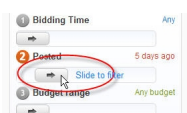

New Look!

- Refresh with the new elegant look
- Visualized project filter
- Professional project listing!

Work flow improved! Better features for buyer & freelancer to work together

- Credit-based subscription. Bids are even more serious with the new credits systems
- Invoice feature. Download your invoice for any transaction
- Security enhanced. Verify your phone to increase the trust for your account
- Instant chat tool. Project Message board
- Hassle-free bid manager and watch-list
- Enriched member profile
- Informative rating and score record

Some upcoming features change

- Test & Certificate center.
- Forum, Blogs & Community features; not just business, you are going enjoy funs here at JoomLancers.
